

Excellence in Pedagogic Profession award NOMINEE

Maria Hedblom

The Pedagogical Development Group at Jönköping School of Engineering is pleased to announce that colleagues have recommended you for the PED-group's Excellence in Pedagogic Profession award.

The nomination motivation reads:

In her courses, she uses many different methods to actively engage students, for example in the Ethics of AI course, through interesting seminars, or fun projects. She tries out new things and takes feedback from the students seriously. Her approach to teaching not only sparks curiosity among students but also motivates them to pursue careers in academia.